

Norms & Change

Workshop

June 6–8, 2018

Plesso D'Azeglio
Aula K 13, Parma

Organised by Carla Bagnoli and Wolfgang Huemer

UNIVERSITÀ DI PARMA

UNIMORE
UNIVERSITÀ DEGLI STUDI DI
MODENA E REGGIO EMILIA

Dipartimento di Studi Linguistici e Culturali

Speakers

Giulia ANDRIGHETTO (Rome e.a.)

Carla BAGNOLI (Modena & Oslo)

Cristina BICCHIERI (Philadelphia)

Andrea BORGHINI (Milano)

Francesco GUALA (Milano)

Wolfgang HUEMER (Parma)

Gloria MÄHRINGER (Lund)

Elijah MILLGRAM (Salt Lake City)

Mihaela POPA (Birmingham)

Anne REICHOLD (Flensburg)

Corrado ROVERSI (Bologna)

Giacomo SILLARI (Rome)

Áron SZÉKELY (Rome & Stockholm)

Martin WEICHOLD (Regensburg)

Rules and norms are object of continuous change or adaptation. In some cases, there are straightforward mechanisms to bring about and govern change. For instance, legal systems contain procedures for introducing and regulating legitimate modification of laws. The case of rules and informal social norms that are closely tied to practices or costumes and deeply entrenched in a social community, is more complex.

The purpose of this workshop is to discuss the varieties of mechanisms underlying organic changes in systems of rules as well as strategies for bringing about changes in normative practices and motivating members of the community to adapt to and undertake such changes.

In particular, we will discuss changes of norms which affect the behavioural regularities of a community. The discussion centres on Cristina Bicchieri's seminal work on these topics.